GWS wins significant contract in Malaysia

GWS Production AB in Lund has been commissioned to improve the safety for all working personnel outside Malaysia's coastal region. The contract is one of the first of its kind in ASEAN.

The agreement, initially a pilot, will provide 20 000 new users with access to the platform and the potential to increase to up to 300 000 users. The total contract value is 550k MYR over two years which is approximately 1.2 million SEK.

ACASIA Communications, a strategic alliance of seven major telcos in ASEAN, has been awarded a contract to improve the content of an existing application that allows the maritime community to lodge reports or request emergency assistance directly with related maritime agencies.

ACASIA has now signed a contract with GWS, a world leading security company, to perfect the application with the goal of an ASEAN-wide adoption.

With its unique technology platform and localization technology, GWS can quickly reach users who are at risk with accurate and relevant information compiled by GWS's qualified analysts.

GWS will provide the company's SDK, Software Developer Kit, solution.

The service will be connected to designated command centres for emergency situations. GWS will provide ASEAN-wide local content as part of an important tool for enhancing maritime safety.

"The collaboration with GWS shows how the future's qualified safety systems will look like, a work where we are now taking the lead by creating this unique security app, Azmal Yahya, CEO of ACASIA comments."

"This strengthens our position in south-east Asia and opens opportunities for further development in the region" Andreas Rodman, CEO of GWS Production comments.

"The agreement also shows that Safeture is an important service in many different business areas."
